Subject: email update

I am working with Bill Harwell this morning on the few more things that need wrapping up to get our email back. There's been a number of setup challenges getting the new email platform integrated into our existing network system but things are very close now.

This morning we are concentrating on the firewall and our email "edge" server which takes in and gives out our mail to/from the internet.

All the internal mailboxes have been rebuilt and orphaned email messages have been saved and are awaiting the connection Bill is working on between the "Edge" server and our internal email server.

I'll keep you posted as today continues to unfold. Bill Harwell is an amazing resource to work with and WSP is fortunate to have him.
