Good morning Jess….I am following up on Lance's email below regarding upcoming/pending cost of licensing SILO.

The purpose of this email is to open discussion on our future/continuing utilization of SILO.

I would like to pursue this on behalf of the Washington State Fusion Center analysts and detectives that utilize this anonymous browser.

I am requesting if it is possible to obtain 15 licenses that could be paid through the UASI funds.
If this course of action is possible, then I would like to determine the account path in order to develop the 'purchase order' for the browser.

FYI -

This is the upcoming/pending cost of licensing SILO the "secure anonymous cloud based browser" that I introduced to the Fusion Center 6+ months ago. The City of Seattle is now in the process of getting an Enterprise License. To that end they want to license the WSFC or have us get our own contract, etc. I propose that we be licensed through SPD and pay/funnel funds to them via UASI or whatever would be prudent.

Some of the analysts use it every day, like Molly, Jan, Jason, Allen, Juli, and myself. I believe Chuck uses it regularly as well and some of the others use it sparingly.

I'm out today. Mark/Braden, can you send Lance a screenshot of the Fusion Center accounts? Lance can you confirm the current accounts are valid?

Thanks,

Hi Mark,

Since we are treating Authentic8 as an Enterprise License, we don't want multiple contracts going. Since we are ordering through Zones(who we already have a blanket contract with) it should be simple enough to add more users and then have them invoice us, or we can wait and place another big order.

Lance, Can the fusion center set up it's own contract with Authentic8?

Mark,

I see a bunch of new users under Fusion Center with recent logins. DoIT set up a master contract through Zones for Authentic8. We had an initial cut which included 4 SPD users. Authentic8 does a quarterly true up to verify users match licenses paid for. If we add new users (which we still have flexibility to do at will), the department needs to understand that they will be billed $12.50 per month per user (PO is cut for $125/year for the license).

Is SPD good with these Fusion Center users or do they need to be deleted off??
