On July 23, 2020 it was discovered that Tenprint Examiner, Loreen Bast had made an error on her 2020 Tenprint Comparison Proficiency Test. Bast incorrectly checked a box on the answer sheet indicating that she concluded the fingerprints on two specified documents were made by the same source. The unit supervisor notified Bast that she failed the exam due to an erroneous identification on Part 2 of the exam via phone, then emailed the answer sheet and associated fingerprint cards to her for review. Upon reviewing the documents, Bast stated that she had conducted a secondary comparison and had marked the wrong box on the answer sheet.

On 8/2/2020, Bast was re-tested using Part 2 of the 2019 Tenprint Comparison Proficiency Test and passed. In addition to the re-assessment, a review of 15 most recent comparison reports prepared by Bast were reviewed; zero comparison errors were found. Based upon Bast's performance as a Tenprint Examiner for approximately 15 years without a similar incident; the assurance that each comparison in the Tenprint unit is validated by a second examiner; and written reports are additionally reviewed by leads for quality control, Bast's competency as an examiner is not in question by her chain of command.

Per Auburn PD: Officer Rhea backed his patrol vehicle in to a fire valve located on a building in Auburn. He failed to report the collision and when questioned by his sergeant, claimed he didn't have any knowledge of how the car was damaged. Officer Rhea subsequently authored a department memorandum stating he didn't have knowledge. We investigated the damage and discovered a video showing Officer Rhea backing in to the fire valve. He was interviewed as part of the investigation, and he continued to claim that he didn't have knowledge and was untruthful during the interview. Once he was shown the video, he confessed to damaging the patrol car; completing a department memorandum that was untruthful, and being untruthful during the investigation specifically his interview. Officer Rhea entered in to a Separation Agreement and his employment with the City of Auburn Police Department was terminated. We also completed the necessary documentation to have his Peace Officer Certification revoked by the Criminal Justice Training Commission.
